

Prayer news update: March

Dear Friends,

I love this time of year when I see bulbs that I planted are now flowering. It's a season so full of hope as we start to leave behind the cold and dark of winter and look forward to the lighter evenings and warmer weather. I struggle to imagine what it would be like to rely on growing food to feed your family. Florence and her son Moses are doing just that and are enjoying eating what they grow!

Meet Florence

"Learning new farming technologies has helped us greatly increase yields from our farm. Thanks to Send a Cow Kenya," Florence.

Florence started to work with Send a Cow last year and has already noticed a transformation in her family's lives. Previously, Florence and her family often skipped meals as there was no money for food and they were not able to grow enough vegetables on their land. They would often experience six long months of hunger.

Within a period of eight months, Florence has noticed a great change in her family. She has reported an improvement in nutrition; they often eat eight different kinds of food a day and they no longer skip meals. Instead of having to buy vegetables, they now save the money. The family's income has increased and Florence is able to buy other food that they do not produce at home to ensure a balanced diet.

Moses, Florence's son, has chosen to stay at home and support his mother farming the land. It's unusual to find a young man taking up this role as so many head to the cities to find employment. But Moses is enjoying this work and has ambitions for the future. He wants to breed both chickens and dairy cows.

Beyond Send a Cow

Next month, I'll be able to tell you about some changes on the horizon for Send a Cow. I'm really excited about the next stage in our journey and I hope you will be too. Here's a video for you to watch: This is the story of Send a Cow so far. Will you join us for the next chapter?

Invitation to all Mission Partners!

Please join us on Zoom on Wednesday 18th May at 6.30 pm

We'll hear from Beatrice, the project manager of Women of Migori. There will be an opportunity for you to ask her questions and there will also be a time of prayer for Beatrice, her team and for the families she works with. There will be more information about the event soon.

Please pray

- Praise God for Florence and Moses, for their positive attitude and the transformation in their lives. Pray that this transformation would continue and that he would use Florence and Moses to be beacons of hope to others in their community and beyond.
- Praise God for Beatrice and her team. Ask that he would keep them safe in their travels and bless them as they share their passion and knowledge with the families they work with.
- Pray for the next stage of Send a Cow's journey, pray that people will be excited to be part of this change both here in the UK and in our communities in rural Africa.

Thank you and bless you for your continued support for our work in Migori. Please be encouraged that you are making a great difference and do get in touch with me if you have any questions:
